A P R E T A C E

Years ago I paid little attention to an old compass, surveyor's chains and saddle-bags which my mother possessed. These were relics which had come to her as heirlooms after her father's death and had originally belonged to her grandfather, David. In fact, the "old things" meant so little to me in my boyish, thoughtless state that one day I "sneaked" the old saddle-bags out of the attic and proceeded to cut a patch out of one of the covers. While the reason for my sacrilegious mutilation of the dear, old treasure has long since been forgotten I shall never forget mothers' tearful surprise and grief when she discovered my act of vandalism. The old saddle-bags are now in my possession and whenever I look at them my regret over that act of heedlessness is greater than was mothers' sorrow, I am sure.

Several years later while I was home on vacation mother brought the old compass out of its hiding place. Placing the old treasure in my hands she remarked, "I wish we had some way of finding out how old the compass is, and where it came from". I looked at the old instrument without particular interest until mother said, "Just notice it has Peregrine White's name engraved on its face. Was this the old Peregrine of Mayflower birth or one of his descendants, or who was he?" That question fastened itself in my mind and caused a great wonderment to fall upon me. Yes indeed, who was he, old Peregrine himself, or who?

Then another question rose up in my mind to confound me. If we knew so little about the old compass, how about David, who were his people and where did he come from? I turned to mother with this question and to her great confusion she admitted, she only knew that he came from somewhere in Massachusetts. Attempts to answer further questions only added to our wonderment and proved how little knowledge we had of any of our ancestors. Then I promised mother that as soon as I returned to Detroit I would start a search for our lost ancestors.

Once again in Detroit my search began. A letter brought the name of a place, an old bible revealed a marriage record, and an aged, yellowed newspaper told the story of the old settler and his compass. Time and patience brought still further bits of the past until the beginning of the backward trail lay before me. It was the beginning of a vague, obscure trail, dim and mysterious as it led away down through the reaches of the past, but it was the beginning which I had sought.

Then I began that backward voyage of discovery which has no ending-only a beginning. From the little cabin in the clearing of the Twenty Townships, I made my way step by step back over the old Mohawk River Trail to Schenectada and the eastern settlements. Strange sights and scenes unrolled before me as I followed the old winding trail through settlements and dense forest depths. Lean, brown men with long rifles on their shoulders and the western sun striking glints of fire from their eyes came striding out of the past and passed onward with set, determined faces. Creaking ponderous ox carts laden with household goods and children rumbled and swayed past over the rough, uneven forest path. Dim, spectral shapes flitted through the forest aisles and within the depths of pine and hemlock fastness lurked menace and death. I saw strange people with strange customs and manners and strange crude ways of life. It was the trail of the past.

As I journeyed ever eastward I came to know these early folk dearly and well. I lived in their primitive cabins, toiled in their clearings, endured suffering and privation with them, loved their friends and hated their enemies, fought by their sides against oppression and terror, and rejoiced at their births and mourned their deaths. They were no longer strangers to me. I knew their thoughts, their hopes and fears and the aspirations which actuated their daily lives. I was of their flesh and blood, they were my people.

And the old compass, symbol of direction and constancy, had performed a last mission by pointing the way to my ancestors.

THE FAMILY OF HENRY CHAMBERLAIN, SR.
of Westmoreland, N. H.

By Mrs. Grace E. Chamberlain

HENRY CHAMBERLAIN (or lin) came from Hingham, County of Norfolk, Old England, to New England, in the ship DILIGENT, arriving Aug. 10th, 1638. With him came his mother Christian, his wife Jane, and several children. Coming to New England to escape religious persecution, Henry Chamberlin was granted land for a house lot in Hingham, Mass. in 1638.

HENRY CHAMBERLIN (2)

HENRY CHAMBERLIN (3)

HENRY CHAMBERLIN (4) born in Hull, Mass. Mar 11, 1686. He entered his intention of marriage with Lydia Vinton (daughter of Blaize and Lydia (Hayden) Vinton of Braintree and Hingham) May 14th, 1714.

HENRY CHAMBERLIN (5) s. of Henry (4) and Lydia (Vinton) Chamberlin was born about 1718. He removed from Hull to the Second Parish of Scituate, and later to ancient Bridgewater, Mass. He married in Bridgewater, Mass. Dec. 7, 1740 Susannah Hinds, daughter of John and Hannah (Shaw) Hinds, who was born in Bridgewater, Mass. Mar 16th, 1722. In deed to land in Bridgewater, he is called "cordwainer".

HENRY CHAMBERLIN (5) removed from Bridgewater, Mass. to Westmoreland, New Hampshire about 1750, at least it is tradition that his daughter Elizabeth born Feb 25th, 1752, was the first white child born in Westmoreland after the granting of its New Hampshire charter. Previous to this time Westmoreland had been known as "No. 2, and Great Meadows." It is thought that Henry Chamberlain and his family, during Indian troubles did return to Bridgewater, Mass. as some of his children born after 1750 are known to have been born in Bridgewater. He is called in Westmoreland, Henry, Sr. He bought and sold considerable land after 1760. The old Henry Chamberlain home in Westmoreland is still standing on the road from Westmoreland to Keene, called Hurricane Road'. It was a prominent place and often mentioned in land records as a sort of landmark - in describing premises, as being, half mile East or a mile West of "the Henry Chamberlin place." The family burial place is on this farm and in plain sight of the house. Henry Chamberlin sold this place to his Son-in-law Jonah Edson, who lived there his entire life after his marriage to Elizabeth (Betsy) Chamberlin. She died there Aug. 21st, 1850, age 98 years. The farm is at present owned by one Richard White. The land slopes gently to the road in front, and in the rear is a fine view across the valley to a high hill called "Gilboa". The scenery is very beautiful.

When, or where Henry Chamberlain, Sr. died. I have not been able to discover. It is thought he followed his sons to Vermont, and probably died in Leicester, Vt. His wife, Susannah (Hinds) Chamberlin died in Westmoreland Feb. 11th, 1811, age 89. It is not unlikely that Henry, Sr. and his wife left Westmoreland for a time, and that after his death elsewhere, the widow, Susannah returned to Westmoreland and took up her abode with her daughter Betsy. Henry Chamberlain, and Henry Chamberlin Jr. were in Leicester, Vt. in 1787, when he executed a deed of "1/2 of first Division to Calvin Chamberlain (a son) same being witnessed by Job Britton (a son-in-law) and Henry Chamberlin, Jr. (son) Leicester, Vermont appears to have been a point to which many of the East Westmoreland Chamberlins migrated after disposing of their various real estate holdings about 1786.

Children of Henry Chamberlin, Sr and Susannah (Hinds) Chamberlin-perhaps not in order,

I have correspondence in the year 1900 of Stillman E. Chamberlin, son of Stillman and Silence Blaisdell, and grandson of John and Eunice (Edson) Chamberlain. He states in his letters that Stillman Chamberlain, his father, died in Wilmington, Vermont, Aug. 18th, 1869. Has his grandfathers' bible in which is entered the family record, practically as above, stating bible "is printed in Edinburg."

Of the Sullivan Chamberlain who married Joanna Smith, he states - "He appears to have had at least three children; Sullivan, Emeline and Jane. He lived a good many years in Essex, N. Y. where he died."

Of his Aunt Keziah Chamberlain, above, who married Joshua Britton, he states - "They lived in Chesterfield, N. H. where he carried on the business of hatter; removed to Brattleboro, Vt., where he died." "Keziah's children were Joshua who became a Universalist clergyman; married Eunice Britton; late in life removed to Ft. Atkinson, Wisc. Other sons of Keziah and Joshua Britton, were Lyman, Langdon and Washington;"

THE MERRILL FAMILY

By Lot Augustus Merrill

(9)

LEVI (5) MERRILL, son of Daniel, born in Salisbury, Mass., Jan. 29, 1759; resided in New Gloucester, and after the Revolutionary War he settled in that part of Sylvester now known as North Turner, Maine, where he died March 14, 1825. Levi Merrill performed service in the army of the Revolution from New Gloucester, District of Maine. He served in the continental Army in the defence of Boston. He was a private in Capt. Moses Merrill's company, Col. Edmund Phinney's (31st) regt. billeting allowed from date of enlistment, May 25, 1775, to date of marching to headquarters, July 5, 1775, credited with allowance for 7 weeks, 2 days; also company return (probably October, 1775); also order for bounty coat or its equivalent in money; dated, Fort No. 2, Cambridge, Oct. 26, 1775. (Ref.: Massachusetts Soldiers & Sailors of the Revolutionary War, Vol. 10.) He married in Turner, about 1779, Sylvia Leavitt, daughter of Jacob and Sylvia (Bonney) Leavitt, who was born in Pembroke, and died in Turner, March 14, 1826. Levi and his brother Elias Merrill took an active part in the organizing of the Universalist Church in Turner, Maine, in 1803. Levi Merrill and his sons, Levi and Luther, built a saw mill in Turner, later used as a match factory, and in 1870, by Bailey and Merrill as a spool factory. Levi and Sylvia (Leavitt) Merrill were the parents of thirteen children, the first one born in New Gloucester, the other twelve born in Turner, Maine, namely:

1. SAPAIAH b. Dec. 5, 1779; m. Rhoda Triboe of Minot.
2. LEVI, b. Jan. 6, 1781; m. Hannah Merrill of Turner; served in the war of 1812
3. LUCY, b. Oct. 9, 1782; m. John Bailey of Turner.
4. TABITHA, b. Aug. 16, 1784; m. Nathaniel Robinson.
5. TILE, b. May 13, 1786; m. her cousin, Jabez Merrill.
6. LUTHER, b. Apr. 5, 1788; Mentioned later.
7. CALVIN, b. Mar. 10, 1790.
8. JACOB, b. Apr. 12, 1792; served in the war 1812.
9. JOANNA, b. Mar. 21, 1794; m. Ira Lindsay.
10. THEODOSIOUS, b. May 3, 1796; served in the war 1812.
11. HUMPHREY, b. Sept. 18, 1798; m. Linnet Dillingham.
12. ALVAH, b. Nov. 27, 1800; m. Hannah Chandler Richmond.
13. SYLVIA, b. Nov. 8, 1802; m. Solmon Richmond.

(10)

LUTHER (6) MERRILL, son of Levi born in Turner, Maine, April 5, 1788, and died Oct. 17, 1877, age 89 years; married in Turner, Nov. 25, 1812, Debora Pratt, daughter of Jonathan and Lucy (Church) Pratt, born in Hanover, Mass. in 1789, and died Sept. 5, 1857 in Turner. Luther Merrill was in business with his father, and their mill was located on the bank of Pleasant Pond, in Turner, Maine. Eight children are credited to this family, namely:

1. THEODOCIUS, b. Mar. 23, 1815; d. in Turner, unm.
2. LUTHER, b. Jan. 19, 1817; Mentioned later.
3. HARRISON, b. Apr. 30, 1818.
4. DELENA, b.
5. NATHANIEL, b.
6. ROANA, b.
7. EPASTUS, (twin), b.
8. EPANSUS, (twin), b.

(11)

LUTHER (7) MERRILL, Jr., born in Turner, Maine, January 19, 1817; married (first) Luna Jones; married (secondly) Sarah Green, daughter of Jonas and Eunice Green, of Byron, Maine, born March 29, 1824, and died November 7, 1873, age 54 yrs. Luther Merrill lived for a time in Byron, where his first child was born, then settled in Turner, on the bank of Pleasant Pond, where he assisted his father and uncles in the manufacture of lumber, spools and tubs, etc. In 1860 he removed to Caribou, Aroostock County, Maine, where he continued in the cooper trade, making tubs, churns, molasses kegs, and butter firkins, by hand. When factory competition set in, he purchased the Hendrix farm, on the New Sweden road, two miles from Caribou. In May, 1880, Luther Merrill died suddenly of heart failure, at the age of 63 years. The children of Luther Merrill were:

By first wife, namely:

1. LUNA-JONES, b. m. Mar. 4, 1863, Charles K. Leavitt

By second wife, namely:

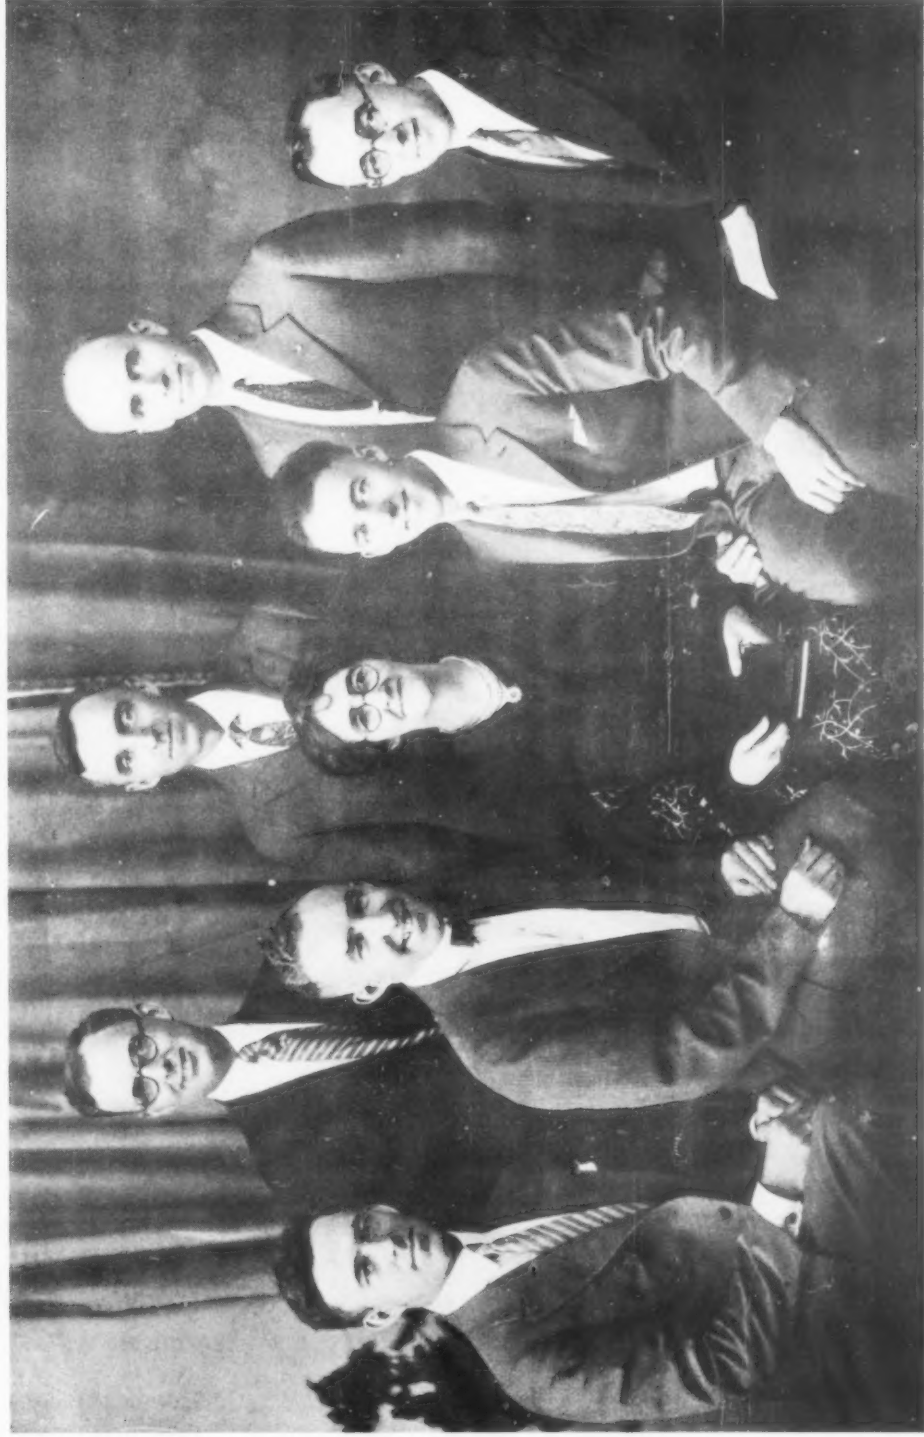

2. AUGUSTUS, b. Oct. 4, 1843; m. Mamie Alexander
3. LIDA, b. Feb. 19, 1851, m. Charles P. Collins
4. May, b. Mar. 16, 1857; m. Haines-Sidney Hardison
5. LOT-MIRICK, b. Sept. 29, 1859, mentioned later.

(12)

LOT-M. (8) MERRILL, son of Luther, Jr., born in Caribou, Maine, September 29, 1859. He followed his brother-in-law, Charles-P. Collins, to the oil fields of Pennsylvania, and settled near Eldred, in McKean County. Here he met and married Isoline-Alvira (called Issie) Hunter, daughter of Isaac and Susan (Jones) Hunter, born near Tidioute, on the border of Warren and Forest Counties, in Pennsylvania. The date of marriage was May 13, 1885. They bought a small farm near Kinzua, Warren County, Pennsylvania, where he owned an interest in a number of oil wells. In the summer of 1890 he moved near New Cumberland, in Hancock County, West Virginia, where he owned an interest in a greater number of oil wells. In the fall of 1900 he sold his business holdings at New Cumberland and removed to Phillips, Wisconsin, where he purchased the old Price farm, located twelve miles west of town, and bordering on the west side of the Flambeau river, at the junction of the Elk river. He died January 25, 1902, at the age of 42 years, leaving a large family, their ages ranging from one and one-half years to fifteen years. After that, on the site of this beautiful woodland river of the North, Mrs. Merrill and a family operated a hunting and fishing resort, known as "Camp Merrill", for eighteen years, and then moved to Racine, Wisconsin. Four of her sons took part in the service of the World War, Allen, Charles, Fred, and Atwood Merrill.

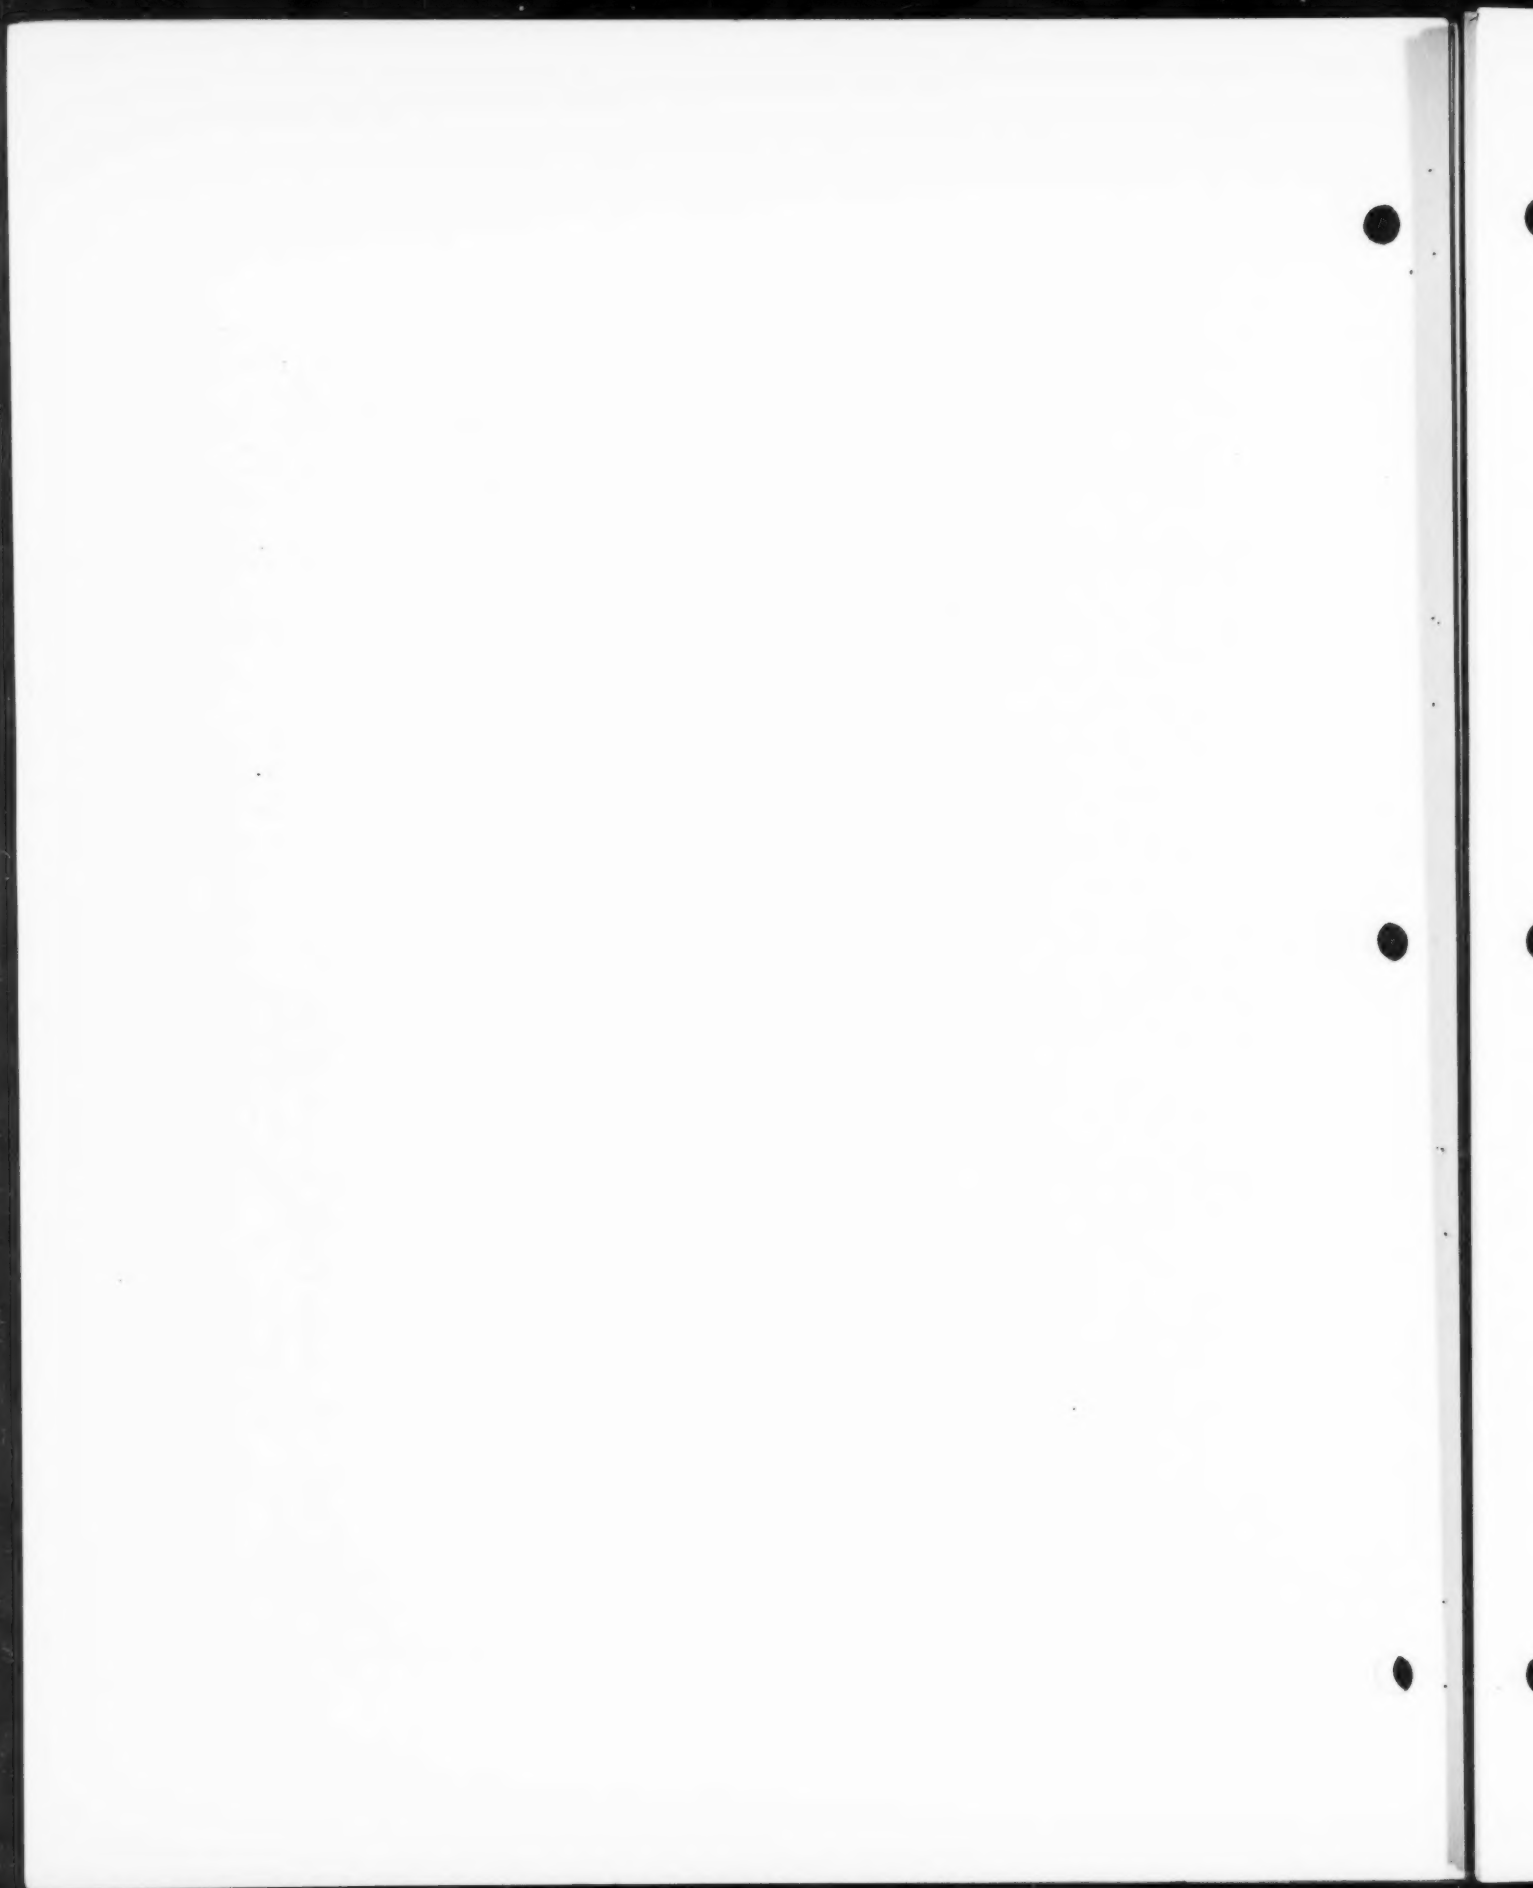

Mrs. Merrill moved to St. Paul, Minnesota a year later, and in company with her two youngest sons, she established a restaurant business. She was a wonderful cook and a good manager, and the success of her business career there was largely due to the fine reputation she formerly established at Camp Merrill. She was known to all her friends as "Mother Merrill." She was a member of the St. Paul chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star. Mother Merrill died from a sudden attack of pneumonia and uremic poisoning, in St. Paul, Monday, March 28, 1938, at the age of 71 years. She was buried at Phillips beside the grave of her husband. In her early married life, she was severely burned by a gas explosion in her home. She was a heroine when her young son Luther was run down by a horse and nearly killed, also when her son Leslie fell from a tall hickory-nut tree, at school, and almost killed and again when her four-year old son Charles' foot was cut by a mowing machine, when with the aid of the home town doctor, the foot was replaced and saved. Space does not permit the writing of the many notable events of her wonderfully courageous, self-denying life and its successful results. Her busy hands were responsible for many beautiful masterpieces in needle-work, and still she was ever present at her place

A book containing records of cemeteries in Tompkins, Tioga and Chemung counties, New York State, has been presented to the Society by Mrs. John E. Clapp (C-11) and indexed by Mrs. F. A. DeBoos. As always, the Society is pleased to receive such fine contributions.

Interesting and pleasant letters have been received by several of our members from Harold E. Moyer former President of our Society, who now lives in Los Angeles, Calif., We miss your kindly, genial presence. Mr. Moyer and your facetious epitaphs.

Several letters have been received by Mrs. J. L. Vroman, concerning the records of her grandfather, the Rev. Levi Pitts, which have been printed in our magazine.

Another gift to our Society by Floyd E. Church, is a photograph of the Memorial to the soldiers, who fought in the "Battle of Fallen Timbers" Aug. 20, 1794, and lie in unmarked graves. The Memorial is located in Ohio State Park, Maumee, Ohio, opposite Fort Meigs State Park, and was erected by the Ohio Historical Society. Thank you for the gift, Mr. Church.

We extend our best wishes for a speedy recovery to Mrs. Floyd Kinney, who is confined to Ford Hospital with a broken hip.

We wish to express our appreciation to Prof. William F. Langworthy, 11 Charles St. Hamilton, N.Y. for his contribution of the Langworthy Chronicles 1927 to 1928 incl. Prof. William F. Langworthy has been working for years on his Family Book and we hope that it can be published soon. Besides being a cousin of Prof. Floyd M. Langworthy of Detroit he was a classmate of the father of C. R. Martin, at Colgate University.

We are pleased to report that our magazine is being placed in all Branch Libraries and may be found on display with the other periodicals.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pomeroy Rothwell of 27948 Nieman Ave., St. Clair Shores, Mich., have announced the arrival of a son, William Bishop, b. Dec. 11, 1938. We wish to congratulate our Associate Editor and are proud to welcome another Junior member to our genealogical ranks.

At the last meeting the members were instructively entertained by Mr. Orla B. Taylor, Pres. of Detroit Historical Society, Mr. Taylor had as his subject "Gathering Historical Materials of Michigan" through which he developed the close relationship of History and Genealogy. There were 75 members and 15 visitors present.

MERRILL: In response to Mr Hallam Spencer Whitney's query in the October issue. George MERRILL does not appear in our records at present. M-5 refers you to "The Merrill Memorial" by Samuel Merrill of Cambridge, Mass. Several copies of his Merrill genealogy were printed in 1928, and may be seen in many of the important libraries throughout the United States, including the Western Reserve Library, of your home city, Cleveland, Ohio.

The Society has received a very valuable contribution of 80 pages covering several families of Steuben County, N. Y. These include data on Allen, Jack, Lane, Northrup, Drake, Ford, Sargent and Van Skiver families and merit considerable study and assistance to the donor Mr. Hallam Spencer Whitney, 2150 W. 83rd St. Cleveland, Ohio. We also thank Miss Lora Wilson and others who furnished their records to Mr. Whitney.
